

International Trade and Investment Law

Brexit, trade wars, China's Belt and Road Initiative, hotly debated trade and investment agreements, a proposed multilateral investment court – the rules that govern the global economy are changing at high speed. In the LLM programme International Trade and Investment Law, students learn to operate, analyse, and debate the international legal framework that sustains, ordains and contains the global economy.

The application deadline is 1 April

After your study

Thanks to our 'in context' teaching method, you can easily adapt to various kinds of legal practice and fulfill a range of functions. Our graduates for example work:

In governments and international organisations

At international law firms

As legal advisors to companies and NGO's with an international focus

As academics in international economic law

ALP: Amsterdam Law Practice

The International Trade and Investment Law Master's offers a tailor-made experiential education programme under the wing of the Amsterdam Law Practice (ALP).

In the courses of ALP, you apply your academic knowledge of the law and the skills you have learned by putting yourself in the shoes of a legal professional. The courses build a bridge to society and the future professional field.

 For more information on electives, go to: uva.nl/llm-international-trade-and-investment-law and look under 'Study programme'. For this track a selection procedure applies whereby each application for admission is evaluated by the programme's Selection Board.
